STREICHER MOBILE FUELING ANNOUNCES NAME CHANGE AND PROPOSED REINCORPORATION TO DELAWARE

Ft. Lauderdale, FL, October 18, 2006 – STREICHER MOBILE FUELING, INC. (NASDAQ: FUEL) (the “Company”), a leading provider of petroleum product distribution services, transportation logistics and emergency response services to the trucking, construction, shipping, utility, energy, chemical, manufacturing, telecom and government service industries announced that it will be asking its shareholders to approve changing the Company’s name to SMF Energy Corporation. Along with the name change, the Company will ask its shareholders at its planned December 8, 2006 Annual Meeting to approve the reincorporation of the Company in Delaware. A proxy statement describing the proposal will be filed with the SEC within the next few days.

Richard Gathright, Chairman and CEO, commented, “We consider this name change and reincorporation to be the launch of the next stage in the Company’s development. Our new name is part of a broader corporate strategy to establish an identity that reflects our Company’s future and its evolution into a diversified energy service provider and product distributor serving a broad sector of businesses and industries. Our re-branding will align the Company’s historical mobile fueling operations with those of its newly acquired subsidiaries while it capitalizes on the goodwill associated with its legacy name and those of its existing subsidiaries.”

Gathright concluded, “We also believe that the Company and its shareholders will benefit from the comprehensive, flexible and well defined corporate and legal environment provided by Delaware law. While we expect that our operations will continue to be headquartered in south Florida, we also believe that as a Delaware corporation our corporate governance will be more predictable and manageable than it was as a Florida corporation.”
